Q. I've heard Bob's TV Audio and Video offers many products and services. Can you please elaborate on them?

A. Absolutely. We offer everything from residential television sales and installation services, multi-room audio to home theatre seating and motorized shades to smart home technology, even electric fireplaces and TV credenzas. We're a giant Toys R Us for adults. No matter what products and services you desire from our company, our main goal is simplicity and to make the process user-friendly, and approachable rather than complicated and scary. Our company does everything in-house, so we have complete control over quality.

First, we'll talk about smart home technology, which makes a homeowner's life easy and effortless. With smart home technology, you can use your phone, tablet, computer, or wall mounted controller to operate your lighting, heat and air, door locks, music, and even window shades. You can control these systems whether you are at home or away. The systems can be automated to where homeowners really don't have to do anything. Transitioning to a smart home can improve every aspect of your lifestyle, improve your security, and simplify how your home operates.

Our company also offers completely concealed audio systems for anyone planning an awesome surround sound system to enhance TV and movies, or listen to their favorite music through the entire home. This is done for both aesthetic and practical reasons. Your wife may not want a big tower speaker system in the living room, so we can build aimable speakers, and subwoofer into the wall or ceiling, and even paint them to match the wall color. Similarly, many people do not want a wall mounted television to be the centerpiece of their living room when it's not in use. Fortunately, we can transform the flat screen display into a beautifully framed photograph or work of art. When the television screen is off, the painting automatically lowers to conceal the TV. The television can be hidden behind a decorative concealment mirror, or motorized credenza, while the components can be hidden in one of our American made credenzas with exquisite wood finishes.

We design and install custom home theaters as well, giving home owners the opportunity to enjoy a movie theatre experience in the comfort of their own home. We offer home theatre accent lighting, as well as a fiber optic star-field ceiling, which gives the illusion of looking at the night-time sky, and is really unique and beautiful. In addition, our company offers motorized reclining theatre seats with features such as lighted cup holders, a table tray for snacks, and wine glass holders. We even offer theatre carpeting and special floor lighting that resemble aisle lights you'd see in a theatre. It's extremely exciting and rewarding for us to help customers create a top-notch home theatre experience for the whole family to enjoy.

My company also provides customers with high-quality outdoor audio system solutions. Outdoor audio is great whether you want calming music to relax, or to get a party going with family members and friends. What's truly awesome about outdoor audio is that it can be functional, as well as add to the beauty of your outdoor space. There are a variety of options, including speaker systems and subwoofers that look like landscape lighting, terra cotta or wooden planters, and even decorative rocks.

We've been in business since 1985, and are family owned and operated. We have developed a stellar reputation among residents of The Villages and surrounding areas. We pride ourselves on delivering the best products and customer service possible.
